

Test Drive a Small Group

You'll get more out of the sermon series when you participate in a small group study.

Why? Because small groups let you dig deeper into the weekly sermon topic, share and gain insights from others and discover practical ways to put the spiritual principles you learn from the sermon into action.

And you can form a small group for just this series!

We call it a small group test drive because you only commit to meeting during the current series. You try it out. See how you like it. Decide if the small group experience is a good fit for you. But no expectations once it concludes.

We even provide your small group study material – a sermon-based, question oriented study guide that you conveniently download from our website each week. It's ready to use and requires no special preparation.

Test driving a small group involves four simple steps:

- 1 Form and lead a group of 8-12 friends who agree to meet weekly during the series
- 2 Decide where and when you will meet
- 3 Complete and turn in the small group information card
- 4 Watch the short 4-5 minute orientation video at fairhavenchurch.org/testdrive
